The Coming Week to Be Enlivened by a Number of Weddings.

Prominent Men and Fashionable Women Are Leaving Every Day to Take Their Summer's Pleasure Away From Their City Homes,

The majority of the brides of this June seem to have settled upon next Wednesday as being decidedly the "best day of ill." There will be marrying and givings n marriage the week through, but it will se on Wednesday that Cupid, Hymen, and Mendelssohn will be put to it to unite all the couples who have selected that date to 'marry and awa'." The week's weddings will begin auspleiously with that of Miss Elizabeth Orme and Mr. Rawlins Home. which will take place at Christ Church, Georgetown, the pretty defails of which have been already announced.

The first of the Wednesday weddings will be that of Miss Elizabeth Moore Flagier to Dr. G. W. McKeen, of Cape Breton, at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. D. W. Flagler, 214 California Avenue. The ceremony will occur at II a'clock and be followed by a breakfast and reception at noon.

At noon Miss Mabel Howard and Capt John Henry Russell will be married at the residence of the bride's parents, on N ant. The wedding music will be played y an orchestra selected from the Marine Band. A hundred guests will be present at the ceremony and as many more will arrive for the breakfast which will be served immediately after the wedding. after the wedding, where they will be joined later by Captain Russell and his

When Miss Elinor Wilson and Dr. Arthur Lee Wilson are married next Wednesday evening the ceremony will be performed by the latter's grandfather, Rev. Dr. Huntington, formerly of Columbian University, assisted by Rev. Dr. Radeliffe, of the New York Avenue Presbyterian Church. There will be no bridesmaids and the company will be limited to relaand the company will be limited to rela-tives and close personal friends. Though of the same name, Miss Wilson and her fiance are not related. He is the son of the late William L. The marriage of Mr. Walter Myron Brittain and Miss. Florence Thompson wil take place in Hamline M. E. Church tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock.

Mrs. Laura E. Magruder has issued invitations to the wedding of her granddaughter, Miss Lillian Irene Christman, to Mr. Howard Le Grande Christman, which will take place on June 19, high noon, at St. Andrew's Church.

Dr. and Mrs. J. Ford Thompson are at the Luray, Atlantic City.

It must have been pleasant news for the many friends of Mrs. Joseph E. Thropp to learn of her purchase of the residence of Mrs. Fraser at the corner of Twentieth and R Streets. Mrs. Thropp is the represented the Twentieth Pennsylvania district in the last Congress. They have made their home in this city for several years past, during which time they have occupied the spacious house 1915 Massa chusetts Avenue, adjoining the site of the old Stewart mansion, lately demolished, for the new home of Senator Clark of

In February last Mr. Thropp renewed the lease of his present residence for a further term of four years. Though no longer a member of Congress, Mr. Thropp and his family find life at the Capital agreeable and have been among the most delightful dinner givers of the past season. Mrs. Thropp is a daughter of the late Thomas A. Scott, one time President of the Pennsylvania Rallroad, and formerly made her home in Philadelphia. Her daughter, Miss Anna Scott Bickley, has been an equal favorite in the Quaker City and in the young dancing set here.

The Fraser home, in its elegant yet simple type of modified Moorish architecture, is one of the show places of the city, and its occupants have been most hospitable entertainers in the young married set. George W. Childs' house, on K Street, near Sixteenth. Mr. Knox will probably not move until October, as the house he is now occupying, which belongs to Jus-tice Harian, is leased until then.

Mrs. Childs is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Amos R. Little, of Philadelphia, at Hud-don Hall, Atlantic City.

Rear Admiral and Mrs. Francis T. Bowles, of this city, are the guests of Mrs. B. F. Bowles, at Newport. Mr. and Mrs. Thomas T. Kean are at the Haleigh, Atlantic City.

Mrs. A. R. Brothers is spending ten days with her mother, in Sykesville, Md. M. Antonie de Geofroy, of the French Embassy, and Count Baudouin de Lichtervelde, of the Reigian Legation, sailed during the past week for Antwerp. M. Geofroy will go to The Hague to visit his nunt, Lady Howard, nee Riggs, whose husband, Sir Henry Howard, is British Ambassador to the Netherlands.

Mrs. Slater has returned from a short visit to her summer place at Newport. Among those who went to Annapolis attend the June ball given by the members of the second class to the graduates of the Naval Academy on Friday night were Mrs. Thompson, Miss Scott, Miss Lury, and Mr. C. C. Richardson, of Washington; the Misses Bolst, Fisher, White, and Morford, of Chevy Chase, and Miss Grace Van Loan, and Miss Louise Campcell, of Hyattsville. The affair must have seen unusually brilliant this year, judging by all accounts. The armory where the lance was given was canopied with army red and the beams hidden by woodland red and the beams hidden by woodland vines. The walls were ornamented with ferns and designs created with the apparatus of war. A fountain played in the northeast corner and opposite was the band stand. The receiving stand on the south side of the room was a charming alcove. It was a golden canopy with American flags over the entrance and wings of deep blue. With splendid music and a fine floor the dancing was all that could be desired. Many beautiful women were present and their dresses were magnificent. About 1,500 or 2,000 persons were assembled from all over the country. Mrs. Walnwright, wife of Commander Richard Wainwright, received the guests in a splendid toilet of black lace and diamonds.

June's fair brides hold the centre of interest just now-Cupid has been unusually active this season. Many important weddings are booked on the social calendar, and the voice of gossip whispers of many more to come

We have been busy supplying correct wedding footwear-in fact, we have had a hand in furnishing the bridal trousseau with footwear for every wedding of any note.

Our showing of slippers for all dress occasions is complete, embracing as it does the very choicest of fashionable creations in kid and satin in all the new colors and designs and the most I approved patent leather ef-

The greatest discretion has been exercised in the selection of footwear appropriate for commencement and graduation exercises, and our present showing is far superior to any of years past. A most extensive display of the "ery latest productions-correct and exclusive styles.

Our line of canvas and linen shoes for yachting and other summer sports, as well as for street wear, includes ! the very choicest of the new designs. Shoes for cycling, tennis, golf, and riding in an endless variety of stylish effects.

The number of orders received by us from Americans traveling abroad serves to emphasize the fact that foreign-made shoes do not possess those distinctive features designed to meet the requirements of the Americans. Before starting on your trip this summer purchase the necessary footwear for the trip-our line of shoes for travel is complete.

WOMEN WRITERS MEET.

Papers Presented and an Acknowledgment From Abroad Read. A public meeting of the Woman's National Press Association was held Friday evening at the Higgs House, Mrs. Belva

A. Lockwood presiding. During a short business session a comnunleation was read from the secretary of the League of Press Clubs, stating that the annual meeting of the league, usually held in July, may this year be postponed until fall, with the prospect of a meeting

The Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. Sperry, read the following communication

"Foreign Office, April 23, 1901.

"I duly laid before the King, my Sovereign, the copy printed upon silk of the resolution adopted by the Woman's National Press Association, in which they express their condolences on the occasion of the deeply limented death of her Majesty Queen Victoria.

"I have received the King's commands to convey to the Woman's National Press Association his sincere thanks for this much appreciated message of sympathy in the great loss which has been sustained by his Majesty and his subjects throughout the world.

"I am, madame, your most obedient, humble servant, Lansdowne."

Mrs. Hannah B, Sperry's paper on "What Haye They Done?" was an able criticism of the efforts of some "would-be facetious" writers to belittle the work and influence of women's clubs. Mrs.

and influence of women's clubs. Mrs. Sperry turned the tables upon this cluss of critics by proving from their own words the value to the world of women's orthe value to the world of women's organizations.

Miss Minnie F. Mickley, the Registrar General of the Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution, read a paper entitled "May Days in Virginia," a most interesting account of a trip in search of Revolutionary records to some of the historic spots of the State. Mrs. L. Corbelle Pickett, author of "General Pickett and His Men," gave an original negro dialect story—a true story of Southern life before the war. This was given in Mrs. Pickett's inimitable style, and moved the audience to smiles or tears as the tale merged from the comic to the pathetic. A new version of the pictures in the moon was given by Mrs. Helen G. Sparhawk in the original poem, "The Woman in the Moon."

musical numbers interspersed The musical numbers interspersed throughout the programme were finely rendered. A contraito solo, with an encore, was given by Miss Pond, with piano accompaniment by her sister. A soprano solo, with encore, by Miss Lucia Nola, accompanied by Miss Clara Moran, piano, and Miss Jessie Cowling, violin. A violin and piano duet by Miss Cowling and Miss Moran closed the programme. A vote of thanks was extended all who contributed to the success of the entertainment.
